

Inside the Psychic Mind

Hello. I want to take a moment and introduce myself and my approach to the psychic. My name is William Becker and among other things, I am a psychic.

Mostly I work with paranormal entities, not the living. These entities have included the humans who have died, animals, and other non-human entities. In the situations where I do read the living, it is usually through the dead. I also do past and between life readings and I teach psychic development classes as well as mentor individuals. My other interests and activities in the paranormal include investigation, study, speaking engagements and I'm the cosponsor of the Oregon Ghost Conference in the very haunted town of Oregon City, Oregon.

One of the activities I especially enjoy and find fulfilling is remote reading of haunted places. It's an automatic response when people mention going on an investigation, or activity at a house they know of, or a photo shows up. I've been privileged to work with people all over the U.S. and Europe on some of the paranormal activity they face in their own investigations, as well as their own homes and neighborhoods.

A couple of the things I don't do are cleansings and clearings. There are several reasons for this. One, the entities were there first and I think that most of the time we don't have the right to send them away. The goal, in my mind, is to develop a positive relationship with them so that you can live with them in harmony.

Another aspect is that from my direct experience and research, the human entities we find are not trapped souls. It is the energy from part of their personality, intellect, activity that is imprinted in a place of significance in their lives, or they are visiting. The human beings I've found in "haunted" locations are not complex and complete enough to be the full souls of a person.

Any entity that isn't an energy imprint has its own issues to work out, and it's habitation of the area is part of that work. We don't have the right to tell them what they need or where they need to be. They most likely know more than we do about that!

Cleansing or clearing a location, if it isn't done exactly right, can open the door for all sorts of problems. If a void is left, then it's very possible for the cast out ones to return; with friends! Or something worse can fill the void.
